GREEN HOME

Sustainable design firm Pomeroy Studio has just completed Singapore's first carbon-negative home that generates more green power than it consumes. The B House is a private commission in Bukit Timah, and uses solar energy that produces surplus energy that can be fed back into the grid. For more on the house and its innovative design, go to pomeroystudio.sg. ▼

Design Dates

There are two exciting design fairs to explore this month. Maison & Objet, now in its third year in Singapore, is on from 8 to 11 March at Marina Bay Sands Expo and Convention Centre, and the ever-successful International Furniture Fair Singapore (IFFS) runs from 10 to 13 March at Singapore Expo. For more information, go to maison-objet.com/en/asia and iffs.com.sg.

CUSTOMER ACCOLADE

Singapore-based interior design house Mara Miri has been awarded best customer service award by online home remodelling and design platform Houzz.com. Mara Miri has projects in Europe and Asia under its belt, and has recently launched a furniture range that can be customised in a wide range of colours and finishes. For more information, go to maramiri.com.

Rain or Shine

Great news for fans of the furniture at King Living: the store has added the outdoor King Cove sofa to its collection. This piece can be left outdoors all year round thanks to its King Cabana fabric, a 100 percent solution-dyed acrylic that's treated for protection from water and oil, and is UV-, stain- and soil-resistant. Check it out at 22 Kallang Avenue, #01-00 Hong Aik Building, and online at kingliving.com. ▲
