Keynote Speaker announced for Thailand Property Awards Gala Dinner 2013

Sep 03, 2013 | Comments 0

Ensign Media is pleased to confirm that award-winning architect and academic Professor Jason Pomeroy will be the keynote speaker at the Thailand Property Awards 2013, to be held at Centara Grand & Bangkok Convention Centre at CentralWorld on September 19.

"We are delighted that Professor Jason Pomeroy has agreed to join us," CEO of event organizer Ensign Media Terry Blackburn said. "He is an internationally recognised architect and true pioneer in the field of sustainable building in Asia and beyond. We are very much looking forward to hearing his thoughts on sustainable building and how developers can benefit from the introduction of the Green Building Initiative."

After graduating with distinction from the Canterbury School of Architecture and Cambridge University, Pomeroy went on to found Pomeroy Studio and continues to assist with the direction of the studio's creative output and research programme.

In addition to leading the studio, Pomeroy also lectures and has been published on a number of occasions. He is the author of Idea House: Future Tropical Living Today, and the soon to be released, Skycourt and Skygardens: Greening the Urban Habitat. He is an adjunct professor at the University of Nottingham, and visiting faculty to a number of other institutions. He also sits on the editorial board of the Council for Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat.
